For the Children

A Careless Girl.

Frank and Ella had each been made happy by the gift of a gay red balloon, and their mother said they might go into the lane to fly them. So Ella ran for her hat, and called impatiently, "Frank! Frank! why don't you come?" "I will in a minute," said Frank. "I'm fishing mine so it won't get away. You

Do what?" asked Ella, coming back into the sitting-room.

For answer, Frank held up his balloon, newly fastened to a spool of thread. She looked from it to her own, which had only a short string attached, then cried, impatiently:

"Oh, I can't stop—my string's long enough. Come on!" and away she ran, while Frank, slower but more sure, followed, feeling the thread as he went.

"Oh! oh! oh!" she cried, grasping at the empty air; but alas! all her cries were useless; the balloon floated further away over the top of the high board fence and soon disappeared.

Poor Ella, her eyes full of tears, looked wistfully at Frank, whose balloon,

"It's too much!" she cried, "you always keep your things, and I always lose mine or get them broken the first thing; I don't care!" and she threw herself on the ground, face downwards, and cried harder yet; for, in spite of her words, she did care very much indeed.

Poor Frank felt that it was rather hard that he should be blamed thus, when it was only his extempore cure that had swelled his own balloon, so he said, rather angrily:

"I don't think you ought to blame me! I told you to let yours to a specialist, but you wouldn't and now you deserve to lose it!" which did not make her feel any happier, of course.

The very next day the two were to go out to their Uncle Jack's farm, where there were a great many horses.

"Where is your hat?"

"Oh, in the house somewhere," she answered carelessly. "Why?"

"You'd better find it, and he'll ready

"Ready, youngsters?" he called; "I haven't a minute to lose; must stop at once."

"I haven't touched it!" said Frank, indignantly. "Why didn't you have it ready, as I told you?" Then, softening a little, "But I'll help you to find

"Oh, Pussy!" said Uncle Jack, sadly, "will you never learn to be careful? Now, I can give you just ten minutes" (taking out his watch), and then I must go."

Blinded with tears, poor Effie ran wildly hither and thither, without the least result, while Frank, though feeling very sorry for her, had no better success; and when his uncle's call

Mamma had joined in the search, too, and might have said, "Wear your best one, Ella;" but instead, she said within herself, "This troublesome habit must be broken, and a lesson of this kind will be remembered."

"Oh! don't go," begged Ella, with a fresh burst of sob, and Frank hesitated a little, half inclined to stay and comfort her; but their uncle, though always kind, was also, and so he said firmly.

“Come, Frank, we must go now,” and the latter could do no less than obey.

When Ella saw them drive sadly away, it seemed as if her heart must burst; and throwing herself down upon the grass in her passionate way, she buried her face in her hands, crying as if she would never stop, till at last, quite exhausted, she dropped asleep. When she awoke the first thing she saw was that troublesome hat, dangling innocently from the very branch where she

The rest of that day it was a very thoughtful little girl who walked in Ella's shoes. Two such severe lessons were enough to make her realize that if she would be happy she must do her best to conquer her shifflous, careless way; and if she did not become like Frank all at once she improved so much that her mother at length began to trust her in many little ways, and now Ella makes a very good, thoughtful

Billy Boosey's Donkey.

Billy Boosey was a quaint old man who lived at the corner of the common years ago, when I was a lad; and while he was ready to turn his hands to all kinds of work he mainly depended for his livelihood upon the produce of a small garden and the money he would earn by means of a donkey and a cart. Billy treated his donkey as kindly as it was possible; and although he could afford neither to buy corn for it nor keep it in a grand stable, the animal was always in a good condition, and would draw a heavy load behind him or carry one on his back at a capital speed. We juveniles paid many a penny for a ride on Billy Boosey's donkey.

One day Neddy's unwillingness to "go" amounted fairly to obstinacy.

and when Johnny White had paid his penny and mounted in gleeful anticipation, not a step would Neddy budge. "Make him go, Billy," was the cry. Thus urged, Billy shouted, whistled and flourished his arms and clapped his hands, but all in vain; only when the stick was applied pretty vigorously did Neddy condescend to start. And when he did go, he did go—as people say—a full spend across the commons, boys Billy and all shouting at his heels. "I Presently Johnny White began to feel uncomfortable; Neddy was going at full speed toward the big pond, and not the slightest use was it for Johnny to pull with all his might at the reins. "The cry now was, "Stop him, Billy! Make him stop!"

"To this Billy could only reply, as he came panting along far in the rear,

The Mercury.

JOHN P. SANBORN, Editor and Proprietor.
SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1886.

The U. S. Senate has passed the bill for the relief of the pensioners of soldiers' widows and persons dependent upon them for support.

The reports sent abroad that ex-President Arthur was alarmingly ill are not borne out by the facts. He is suffering from dyspepsia, but otherwise he is all right and will in all probability be able to be about his business again before many days.

There is a bill before Congress to establish an additional life saving station on Block Island; and also one between Point Judith and Watch Hill. They are both needed and should be erected at an early day.

The celebration in Newport on St. Patrick's day was the largest and finest of the kind ever seen in Newport. There were several thousand men in line with three bands of music. The showy regalia of the various societies and the good marching of the military gave the procession a very attractive appearance.

The lecture in the Opera House on the evening of St. Patrick's Day, by Mr. J. Boyle O'Reilly was enjoyed by a large number of Newport's people. Col. O'Reilly is a thorough orator and he handled his subject in a masterly manner. Our citizens would be glad to hear the distinguished gentleman again and have him give a lecture on himself; his experiences, his suffering, and his daring escapes, while laboring for the freedom of his native Ireland would make an interesting volume.

It appears that Mr. Gladstone's Cabinet is in a crumbling condition. Two of the members who do not side with the premier in his Irish measures threaten to resign, and it is only by personal efforts that they are kept in the cabinet. Several other of the members are secretly hostile to Mr. Gladstone, and it looks very much as though they would all have to resign soon and appeal to the country. Great Britain is getting as much politics as this country has.

The question of allowing the Providence, Warren & Bristol railroad to run up to the Weybosset street bridge in Providence, is exciting considerable attention in the General Assembly. If the right is granted it is understood that in connection with this road the Old Colony people will run a quick train between Newport and Providence, making the distance in about one hour. This will be a great convenience to Newport people.

Two weeks from next Wednesday Rhode Island will elect a state government for another year. The good citizens of the state should see to it that the best men are chosen. The people have it in their own hands to elect exactly such men as they desire for any position, if they will take an interest in the matter; attend the primary meetings and caucuses, and then attend the polls on election day. A man who does not take interest enough in the government of his city, town or state to devote an hour to attending the primary meetings and another hour to casting his vote for the man of his choice on election day, is a poor citizen and evidently cares but little whether the affairs of his state are controlled by honest men or rogues. He would not allow the affairs of a corporation in which he was a stockholder to be run in that way.

The urgency deficiency bill as passed by the United States Senate contained an appropriation of $18,000 for laying a new cable to Block Island. This was stricken out in the House and the bill passed without it. This is unfair to the people on that island as well as for the needs of commerce. The Secretary of War recommended the appropriation as did the signal service department, but the learned representative from Missouri, who probably never saw the ocean and certainly knew nothing of Block Island and its location in the very channel of ocean traffic, concluded that the cable was of interest to a few boarding house keepers, as he expressed it, and so had the amount cut out of the bill. There is an imperative need for this cable and we hope that our representatives will exert themselves to get an appropriation for it at an early day.

The City Council at its meeting Tuesday evening voted to put the question of granting the right of way through certain streets of the city for a horse railroad, out to the people. The question will be voted on at the day of the State election, April 7. In the vote Ayrault st. Mann avenue, Thames st., Bellevue avenue and Ocean avenue are forever excepted from the streets that may be used for a railroad. The time has come when a horse railroad is a necessity for the growth of the city. Certain sections of the town are anxious for the road and there is no reason why their wishes should not be gratified as long as they are willing to build and run the road without expense to those who do not wish to contribute. In all probability the road will not be a paying investment at present at least for its builders, but that is not a consideration for the general public. There is no question but what such a railroad will be a benefit to the town as a whole and after it has been built and run for six months nobody will desire to see it removed. The great majority of the abutters on the streets through which the road is to run are desirous to have the right of way granted, therefore there can be no good reason why others should oppose it. We believe that the people will by a large majority signify to the council that it is their desire that a horse railroad be built in Newport.

The Republican State Convention to nominate a candidate for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General and General Treasurer will be held in Providence on Thursday next, and were it not for a contest going on in regard to the Attorney Generalship, there would probably be but little excitement over the convention. Gov. Wetherill has made an excellent chief executive during the past year. One of the best, in fact, the State has ever had. He entered the office a year ago unacquainted with its duties and unknown to a large part of the people of the State. He soon made himself entirely familiar with the duties before him, and he has ably performed every duty entrusted to him. He has proved a careful and conscientious Governor, and the people have the utmost confidence in his integrity and ability. He has made friends wherever he has become known. His nomination and re-election are a foregone conclusion. Lieutenant Governor Darling has likewise proved a valuable man for the position, and will probably be renominated without opposition. Of Secretary of State Addison and General Treasurer Clarke it is needless to speak. No one cares to contest their places. They are emphatically the right men in the right places. For the office of Attorney General there is a lively contest being carried on. The friends of Col. S. P. Colt, the present incumbent, and the friends of B. M. Bosworth, Esq., formerly Assistant Attorney General, are making an active campaign for their favorite, and both sides seem confident of success.

In the State Senate Wednesday, Senator Ballou reported the house bill appropriating $800 to each of the four agricultural societies of the state and recommended its passage. Senator Olney of North Providence moved to amend by cutting the three county societies down to five hundred dollars. The senator from Newport opposed this amendment and after about half an hour's discussion the amendment was withdrawn and the Senator from North Providence made another one increasing the amount for the state society to $1500. This the Senator from Newport opposed and showed that the county societies were doing as good work and were equally as deserving of state aid as the state society. After considerable discussion the bill passed precisely as reported by the committee. The societies will therefore this year get $800 each. In the house the senate bill establishing a board of license commissioners for Newport was passed. In the Senate a petition to close the great salt pond in New Shoreham to the town was presented. The speaker appointed as the committee of investigation demanded by ex-assistant Attorney General Bosworth, Messrs. Woods of Providence, Sheffield of Newport, Carmichael of Charlestown, Coggeshall of Bristol and Allen of East Greenwich. The committee organized by the choice of J. B. C. Woods chairman and Wm. P. Sheffield, Jr. secretary. Mr. Carr of Newport introduced a resolution appropriating $500 for plans for a new dam house at the state farm.

The question of the apportionment of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly under the new census is meeting considerable attention in many parts of the State. Under the census as taken by the commissioner, East Providence and Lincoln would each gain one representative and Woonsocket and Barrillville would lose one each. Woonsocket was dissatisfied with the census as taken by the commissioner and ordered a new one taken by the town council. This census shows 1,874 more people in the town than was reported by the commissioner making the population of that town 18,073. If this census is allowed, it will raise the basis of representation to 3,816, and that will allow Woonsocket to retain her five representatives and will take one from the town of Warwick, leaving that town but three. If this ratio is adopted, Newport will have five representatives as now, Providence 12, Pawtucket 4, Woonsocket 5, Lincoln 5, Warwick 4, Bristol 2, East Providence 2, Cranston 2, Cumberland 2, Johnston 2, Westerly 2, and all the other towns in the State one each.

For some time Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, wife of the gate tender at the railroad station at Weymouth, has been in poor health, and medical advice has seemed of little avail to her. Recently, however, she has been under the care of a Boston physician, and a day or two ago she vomited up five small lizards, each about an inch in length. It is supposed that she drank them in a glass of water. Since her relief her health has visibly improved.

A proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States has been introduced into the U. S. Senate, making the day for the inauguration of the new government April 30 instead of March 4 as now. The argument in favor of the change is that President Washington was inaugurated on that day. It is proposed that President Cleveland shall hold his office till April 30, 1889, and that thereafter the term shall begin on that date.

The Father Matthew Total Abstinence Society made a fine appearance Wednesday evening, when they turned out for the purpose of listening to the lecture at St. Mary's Hall by Mr. Murphy.

Carl Schurz is said to be dissatisfied with the administration. Mr. Schurz has the unfortunate faculty of never being satisfied long with anything—except, it may be, himself.

The bill to incorporate the Merchants' Club of Newport passed the Senate on Friday.

It is said that the Texas Pacific strike is now about ended, and that trains will again soon be running as usual.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Levi Chase a Brilliant Social Season—The Grand Senator and the Trouble attending his Official Transportation to California—Society vs. Morality—A "Cranky" Resolution.

WASHINGTON, March 14th, 1886. Washington society has just concluded another fashionable season of brilliancy and extravagance. Now the Lenten season is being observed, and the change from gay to penitential in the social world is complete. The wearied bells and her equally wearied chaplains go to church mornings, and retire at midnight, if they feel inclined. It is not likely that the present stagnation in social circles will continue during the whole forty days of Lent, but the high pressure under which fashionable life has existed for the past few weeks, will not be reached again this spring. Mrs. Whitney who entertained like a princess during the winter, at an expense of $2500 a week, has gone to Florida for a few weeks.

The very beginning of the season just closed was draped in mourning, and the closing days found U. S. Senator Lytle in the city. Notwithstanding the Vice President's death and the sad bereavements in the family of the Secretary of State, entertainments at the White House have been on a scale of magnificence not exceeded by General Arthur, who was said to have a genius for elegant hospitality. There have been many elaborate and notable events outside of the Presidential and Cabinet entertainments. There have been hundreds of teas, scores of dinners of exquisite success and the afternoon receptions have simply been legion in number. The Attorney General, who will not wear a swallow tail coat, is the only Cabinet officer who has held aloof from social frivolities.

The tendencies of social life in Washington have long been of a character to make thoughtful and pious people grieve. Wealth has brought display and the transient, cosmopolitan character of the population has a pernicious influence on the general morality. A large proportion of those who sojourn in this city are in a certain sense free from moral restraint. They have not the conservative, religious influence of home and in a greater or less degree exhibit in their lives the free and easy instability of morals peculiar to all nomads.

It has occurred to your correspondent that these and other features of social life at the fountain of political life should not be ignored, but known and studied by the very large and powerful class of christian voters throughout the land. These have it in their power to purify by their ballots, not only the sources of legislation and administration, but, through these, the society, which, to a certain extent, is giving tone and color to our whole social system.

It is estimated that the expense of transporting Senator Miller's body to California on a special train, and sending with it a committee who will return by the same method, will be $20,000. Some capital gossipers think it strange that only one Senator could be prevailed upon to go to San Francisco to attend Senator Miller's funeral. It is thought that the political fight with the President kept the Senators here. The Democrats cannot possibly be spared, and the Republicans are thinking they may need all their forces before the fight is over.

As soon as the death of Senator Miller was announced, his colleagues, Senator Stanford, undertook to assist the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate in getting up a Senatorial committee to escort the remains to California. At first Senator Stanford had no difficulty in finding a sufficient number of his associates who were willing to serve, but later on they came to him one by one and submitted various reasons why they could not leave Washington at this time. For two or three days Mr. Stanford labored industriously to make up the committee, but finally gave it up, leaving the matter in the hands of the sergeant at arms. Almost the same difficulty was encountered in making up the House committee. There were several members who were exceedingly anxious to make the trip to California, but Speaker Carlisle did not seem disposed to grant their requests. There is a general opinion among Congressmen that the custom of sending committees to escort the remains of deceased members to their last resting place should be abolished.

The Senate is indulging in that great, long heralded debate on the question what are official papers, and how to get hold of them. The Senators on both sides of the chamber are making some good speeches, but all they say is really of little consequence to the country.

In the House of Representatives, a few days since, Congressman Weaver, of Neb., offered the following preamble and resolution, which was greeted with applause:

Resolved, that the rules of the House be so amended that it shall require at least two members to object to the consideration of a bill.

The resolution was opposed on the ground that it was not respectful to the House.

Loss of the Oregon.

On her way to New York, while between Fire Island Light and Shinnecock, the Commodore steamship Oregon collided with an unknown, deep laden, three-masted schooner at 4:20 Saturday morning. The schooner struck the Oregon on the port side immediately under the dining saloon, tearing a large hole in her side under water. The chief officer was in charge, Captain Cottler being below. The hole was a very large one and the water poured through in a volume. The big steamer immediately began to settle in the water and hasty arrangements were made to launch the boats. There was no panic, the discipline of the crew being perfect. Pilot boat No. 11 and the schooner Fannie A. Gorham were in halting distance and the passengers were transferred to them. The ladies were first taken off. All the passengers were safely removed. There were nearly 100 persons on board and it is almost a miracle that all were saved.

About 2:30 o'clock last Saturday morning, fire was discovered in the barn on Prison street owned by Mrs. Dr. Butlerick and occupied by Horace Carlisle, and before the building could be opened, six horses were smothered to death. The building was not much damaged and the heaviest loss falls upon Mr. Carlisle.

If the statement in our contemporary is true, Newport will run the next State convention. According to an advertisement in its columns the Republican electors are requested to meet Monday to elect fifty-four delegates.

Rev. M. K. Schermerhorn, formerly pastor of Channing Memorial (Unitarian) church in this city, is in Taunton, N. Y., where he is engaged as rector of St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal church.

The treasurer of Cornet Council Royal Arcanum of Newport, has received and paid over to the family of the late E. V. Gilman $3000.

Grand Master Workman Powderly of the Knights of Labor deprecates the epidemic of strikes. He thinks a majority of them are needless and even harmful.

Not Forgotten.
To those who remember the gallant conduct of Capt. Dodge of Block Island on the 27th of last December, the following letter will be self-explanatory:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11, 1886.
Capt. Wm. T. Dodge,
Cath. Mystery,
Care John Waters,
Apt. 31, 31 Life Saving Dist.,
Sequester R. I.
Dear Sir:
Mr. John Waters, asst. Supt. of the 3d Life Saving District has informed this office of your kindness graciously rendered in conveying him in your schooner to Block Island recently in search of the Point Judith Life Saving Station crew still in procuring another vessel and crew to take the crew and boat back from Block Island to Newport. I desire to thank you sincerely for your generous and invaluable aid and to assure you that the gallant service of yourself and crew are truly appreciated and have the grateful recognition of the Life Saving Service.

Respectfully Yours,

Gen'l Supt.

IN HEAVEN.
They said, "She came home to-day,
Open the gates, prepare,
High festival we hold," they say,
"For many, many run to meet,
And loving lips are swift to greet
The one who enters there."
They answered: "Ring the silver bells
From out thy towers,
For she, the child of love and truth,
Will think, how to her own church home,
The feet on earth were glad to come
In sunshine or in showers."
Some called, using a new song to-day,
Take us some earthly strain,
That her glad voice may join the lay,
But that it high and clear and far,
As though of pain or grief may mar
The melody again."
They said: "Make haste. We would not miss
Her joyful astonished smile,
Her joyous words, when first the bliss
Of friends rejoicing in Paradise
Shines on her from the happy eyes,
She kissed in death erewhile."
The angels answered: "So we close
The book of earth's record fair,
The trust that failed not through life's woes,
The steadfast faith that knew no doubt,
The patient love and grief may mar
The melody again."
They said: "Few records show as well,
"Useless, first and last;
The hidden sorrows none might tell,
Through silent toil, through weary loss,
With smiling face she bore the cross,
Ring welcome, bells, ring fast."
They answered: "Hush the welcoming,
And let our dear one hear
His own sweet voice, her Lord and King,
Praise the life labor fully done,
And welcome in His ransomment our
His happiness to share."

Notable Men Who have Changed Their Names.

Senator Mitchell of Oregon has the euphonious name of John Hipple. Mitchell. His name originally was John Hipple, but when he moved West at the age of twenty-five he added his mother's name to his own, and it is my impression that the Legislature of Oregon passed a bill giving him the right to do so. Senator Mitchell is not the only prominent man who has been known to the public by a different name than that by which he was christened. Vice President Wilson was born with the name of Colbath and he got his name of Wilson from his adopted father who raised him. Robert Treat Paine, one of the first American poets was baptized as Thomas Paine, but he did not like to hear the same name as the great infidel, and he changed the first part of it. Senator Beauregard's real name is Pierre G. Tontan, and the name by which he goes is of his own adoption. Beauregard's ancestors came from Canada, and his grandfather, old Pierre Tontan, emigrated at an early day to New Orleans, where he made a large fortune in a very short time, and where he acquired great political influence. He bought a large estate outside of the city and called it "Beauregard," meaning fine sight. General Beauregard was named after his ancestor, and when, through him, he was admitted to West Point, it was under the name of Pierre G. Tontan. After a time, being of an aristocratic tendency, he changed his name to Pierre Tontan de Beauregard, which he after a time dropped into P. T. Beauregard. The fact that General Beauregard has no real right to his name will be a surprise to many.

GUTTA PERCHA
PAINT.

THE growing demand for our Gutta Percha Paint has made it necessary for us to build a new and much larger factory. We have located at the northern end of the bridge building formerly owned by the Providence Dyeing, Bleaching and Calendering Co., on Mathewson street corner of Cove street. With the increased facilities now at our command, we are prepared to fill all orders promptly, and at the same time supply a better paint than ever before.

SEEDS. SEEDS

Tested under my own supervision, and all warranted to have grown under glass before sold. I offer this season some choice varieties to be had only of me.

THE SCOVILLE'S HYBRID TOMATO.

One of the finest. While it has the size and shape of the TOMATO, it has also the solidity of both the TOMATO and ACME, and is much earlier than the PARAGON or the MAYFLOWER. It ripens perfectly to the stem without showing any signs of rot or decay. The flesh is very firm in quality with but few seeds. I have this seed in packages only, and but 1000 plants to offer.

Cleveland's Improved Valentine Bush BEAN.

Five days earlier than last year. Habit of growth similar to the regular round flat Valentine, so long known in the trade. Season two weeks earlier, much more prolific, unusually thick and fleshy. Of the finest quality; unequalled in uniformity of ripening. Nearly the whole crop can be taken at one picking; the most desirable for the market gardener, enabling them to market their entire crop before the ordinary Valentine is in condition for the first picking. The

RURAL NEW YORKER PEA.

At the experimental grounds of the Rural New Yorker, were tested nineteen different strains of Extra Early Peas, furnished by seedsmen both of America and Europe, showing the earliest, in all, at productive of all, and most desirable for Market Gardeners. All of the choice varieties of Peas, in full stock and best quality. To those who give me their order for seeds for '86, I will give a package of

CLEVELAND'S ALASKA PEAS.

A variety not to be bought in this country this year. Were sold in England in 1885 at 40c per bushel. They resemble the Kenilworth variety, grow two feet high from seven to nine peas in a pod, very uniform in growth and ripening. The earliest Peas known. Two days earlier than the Rural New Yorker. I am making special inducements this season to serve my customers to their better advantage. My stock is more complete, my salesmen better acquainted in their departments, and in all branches satisfaction is guaranteed. Catalogues free to all. No matter how small your flower garden, leave a Catalogue and send the enclosed varieties, and buy new seed rather than the common seeds to be found everywhere.

FERTILIZERS.

Complete Manures.

"It is no longer a question what kind of manure, but the analysis of the guide shows their worth, and I believe the following kinds to be superior to all others in the market."

THE MAPES.

Manufactured at Newark, N. J., is making great headway among the cheaper grades of Fertilizers. When you can take 250 bushels of Potatoes on one acre of ground with this brand, why look further, remember this is made for special crops, and to carry a stock for all would require a large amount of manure and I am obliged to supply the largest demands, and the price will be found to compare with that of any lower grade.

THE CHITTENDON.

Like the former, is of the highest analysis, and is the most perfect in the world, with the quality, giving such satisfaction as to warrant my increasing my order from 8 tons of last year to 20 tons for this year. I have a sufficient stock to supply the largest demands, and the price will be found to compare with that of any lower grade.

THE MITCHELLS.

A complete manure, is again in large demand. Those using but small lots last year are doubling their orders this year, feeling that what has served them once can't fail to do so again. Pacific Guano, Sterns, and Dole's Fine and Coarse Ground Bone, Guano and Potash.

THE FLOW that suits all.

THE OLIVER CHILLED.

Of which there are over 100 in use on the island is the widest known in the world, with the quality, giving such satisfaction as to warrant my increasing my order from 8 tons of last year to 20 tons for this year. I have a sufficient stock to supply the largest demands, and the price will be found to compare with that of any lower grade.

THE SYRACUSE.

A new Plow in 1885, gave surprising results, it being a Chilled Plow of entire different pattern. I have in stock this year the

FRY'S STEEL PLOW.

Sold in large market in 1870, giving entire satisfaction. This Plow took the diploma at the New England Fair last Fall.

Wright's, Conical, 3 1/2 ft. and 4 ft. WARD

CHILLED PLOWS

make a good assortment, so no buyer can fail to be pleased.

The Centennial Chilled Sidehill, the

Granger and the Syracuse.

I believe to be the best. A trial will prove it. Buckeye Sulky and National Sidehill Sulky, an article long looked for, is now complete and in the reach of all. La Duw and Corbin Wheel Harrows, Thomas Hough's Smoothing, Grider and Square Harrows, Planet Jr., Horse Hoe and Cultivator, as a combined tool, with many improvements that can be applied to the old tools, will be found one of the most valuable in the planting season.

Mattilows and Planet Seed Sowers for small drills.

Billings Corn Planter and Fertilizer Distributor saves the labor of 10 men, and does the work better than can be done any other way.

FORKS, SHOVELS, HOES AND RAKES.

An assortment none in the city can equal. The Weaver Shovel, that is made of one piece of steel, saving welding, and doing away with all weak points, will be appreciated. Weaver's Lawn Rake is the best and only rake that will stand the work and not break in the head, will be much lighter this season, and yet retain all the strength required.

EDGE, HEDGE AND PRUNING SHEARS

of all the new styles, with the old and cheaper patterns, not to be duplicated elsewhere, bought direct of the importer.

C. T. Reynolds House and Villa Paints

of Pure Lead and Oil will cover farther, wear better, and cost less than any other ready mixed paint in the market. Choice colors and a full assortment always in stock. Lubricating and Paint Oils, Axle Paste, Hair Oils and Soap.

Hardware in all its Branches.

Brushes, Brooms, &c. Hardware complete. See the STAR SAFETY RAZOR that any one can use. John Heller's Razors of all styles. For Farmers bring in your reaping now, and be the first to get the best. Lawn Mowers repaired satisfactorily at

Be Warned

In time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albu-minuria, or

Bright's Disease

Is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas.
W. Welch, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain,
Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 40 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only

Prevented

the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts.,
Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years
I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by usingAYER'S Sarsaparillamy appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."
